

Image Approval Coaching

Updated 5/2026

To provide vendor images and videos for use on Kohl's Product Display Pages, all vendors must be approved to submit their own photography. This ensures alignment with Kohl's image and video requirements, including file naming conventions and submission standards.

New vendors are required to complete the Image Approval Coaching process prior to submitting any image assets in K-Link.

Existing vendors may be required to complete (or re-complete) Image Approval Coaching if identified by the Digital Visual Content team for quality, compliance, other image-related concerns, or if there are changes to how product imagery is captured.

Vendors participating in Image Approval Coaching, whether new or existing, must pause all image submissions in K-Link until they have completed the program and received confirmation from an Digital Visual Content Coordinator that they are approved to resume.

Please follow the steps below to begin the approval and alignment process.

APPROVAL PROCESS:

1. Vendor should email or provide a link via dropbox of Main images, ALT images, and video for each product category. Send to Image Asset Inbox ec-imageassets@kohls.com
 - When emailing, please follow this formula for the subject line:
Vendor Coaching: Vendor Name, Dept. #
 - If dropbox, please have all test images & video in one folder.
 - Some image testing may require samples to be sent to verify image accuracy. This varies by category.
2. Please follow Kohl's required content and technical specifications located in Kohl's vendor style guide for imagery and videos.
 - If you are an existing vendor, log into K-Link and navigate to Resources. Within Resources, select Kohl's Image and Video Style Guide. Open the category specific product guide.
 - If you are a new vendor and do not have access to K-Link, adhere to the technical and content specifications listed below.
3. Digital Visual Content Team will review imagery & video and provide feedback or any adjustments needed.
4. If no adjustments are needed, the vendor will receive an email stating that they have been approved to provide imagery and video.
5. Once vendors can access Kohl's Style Guide via K-Link (Vendor Agreement has been finalized), it is the vendor's responsibility to check for updates to the requirements at least quarterly (or before a big shoot).
6. Once testing is complete, vendor does not need to send tests for future assortments. However, if there is a new product type for a category, the vendor should send a few test images/videos first to ensure alignment.

- Filenames for adding additional images to existing products: Load additional images to K-Link the same as during the set up of the style(s). To assist in quicker set up, please add “_ADD” to the end of your filename. This will assist in identifying that this product is already live and this is an additional image being added to the existing product page.

CONTENT SPECIFICATIONS:

Please submit a complete sampling of main and ALT images that represent the range of products Kohl's will be carrying. Do not send a link to your full catalog of images.

Example: if your category is Tabletop Decor, please send the main and ALTs for each of the different subcategories we'll be carrying (e.g., picture frames, decorative accents, bowl fillers, candlesticks, etc).

- Be sure to include any ALTs that may be unique to product type (e.g., bowl fillers require an in package shot while candle sticks require a propped with candle shot).
- If you are unsure of what the required main and ALT images would be and/or Kohl's Style Guide cannot be accessed, please reach out to your merchant partner.
- As a general rule, for our ecommerce imagery, we are trying to mirror or improve upon the in-store experience. At a minimum, whatever the customer can see in store, should be represented in the images online.
- Lifestyle imagery is strongly suggested, and should be propped very simply, showing enough context to be beneficial to the customer experience online.

Please visit our K Link Resources page for specific style guides for each category. For any AI or digitally created imagery, please see our AI Submission Guidelines.
